The Slightly Read Bookshop Has the Best Deals in Town!

An Interview with Lee Lawrence

Lee Lawrence was looking for a way to pass time when she answered an ad for volunteers at the Slightly Read Bookshop. This work suited her since she enjoys the hunt for a good title but doesn’t like the pressure of returning a book by a designated time.

In 2012, after the death of former manager Fred Krohle, Lee began working as a one-day-a-week volunteer. At that time, retired Dallas teacher and principal Ruth Tetschner, who was an original organizer of the bookshop, resumed the manager position. In 2015 when Mrs. Tetschner decided to step down, Lee filled her shoes as the third person to manage the store.

No longer are books hauled out of the basement during the auction, noted Lee. Instead, auction goers are invited into the bookshop to browse the hundreds of selections on hand for all ages including jigsaw puzzles. New in the bookshop annex is the Second-Hand Gift Shop. Additionally, seasonal and holiday specials are offered regularly which include such things as bundled DVD’s and half price gift cards.

If working with used books excites you, ask for an application at the library desk. The two to four-hour shifts involve active and unsupervised work with regard to opening and closing the store, handling money, and pricing and shelving books. Located around the back of the library and down the stairs, the Slightly Read Bookshop has the best deals in town!

Remembering Debby Kirkwood: A Library Gem

With much sadness, we remember a gem of the library who lost her battle to cancer last October. Beginning her work at the library during the 1997 children’s room expansion project, Debby Kirkwood wore many hats. Primarily, she was the bookkeeper, accountant and maintainer of the library’s data base.

Debby was known to go above and beyond her work to take the library to new levels of bookkeeping and accounting. Moreover, she was involved with the finances and new goods for the auction. She created reports and spreadsheets to help facilitate soliciting businesses and keeping track of auction finances. Additionally, she offered her creative talents and made themed costumes for the library’s bear and dog mascots to coordinate with state-wide library programs.

Friends of the Library benefited greatly under Debby’s consistent help and guidance with fundraising, mailing lists, newsletters, and author luncheon programs and bookmark handouts which she designed. She was the one who came up with the idea of holding a Holiday Wreath Sale to benefit the library.

Library Director, Martha Butler, indicated how much Debby is greatly missed at the library. “She was an exceptional staff member and friend,” Martha praised, not just because of her work ethic, but Debby’s smile, laughter, and love of making whatever she could to be a positive for our library will live on!
